

UCM Refund and Withdrawal Policy

UCM Withdrawal and Refund Policy

1. Students claiming a refund before the course commence, or within the first three weeks of the start of a course, will receive a full refund less the administration charge. The administrative charge is also applicable to outstanding fees which are subject to invoice.
2. Students claiming a refund from week 4 to week 12, for reasons of ill health will, subject to their providing documentary evidence, receive a pro-rata refund less the administration charge.
3. Students claiming a refund from week 4 to week 12 due to changes in work commitments, personal or financial circumstances will receive half of the pro-rata refund less the administration charge. There will be no refunds after 12 weeks.
4. Any monies spent by the College on behalf of the student (exam or registration fees etc.) are not refundable.
5. Regulations 1 - 4 will also apply for those students who have outstanding fees in determining charges on their withdrawal from the course.
6. Requests for refunds will only be considered where a student advises their withdrawal in writing to the Refunds Officer and (where applicable) returns their Student Identity Card.
7. Refunds will be calculated from the official start date to last date of attendance (as notified by the Course Tutor).
8. No refunds will be made for courses costing less than the current administration charge.
9. No refunds will be made for less than £5.00.
10. All administration charges are payable in full, irrespective of fees paid. Administration charges are per individual.

General Notes

- Places offered for courses at the College are subject to the acceptance of the provisions outlined in this policy and no further consideration will be given to requests for refunds which fall outside the terms of this policy.
- If an incorrect fee is levied any refund applicable will not be subject to an administration charge.
- The regulations above are not applicable if a course is cancelled by the College for any reason in which case a pro-rata refund of the course fee will be paid to enrolled students for the weeks remaining of the course. Should a cancelled course be offered subsequently, previously enrolled students may be charged a reduced fee to complete the course.
- Refunds will only be made by Government cheque or BACS. Payments received by card will be refunded to the original card that made the payment. The College does not offer cash refunds. .
